Adam Herod and Todd Jacobs heft a huge box toward the guys' dorms as "MOM" reaches for a suitcase.

"Veterans" Jon Anderson and Ed McEnroe greet a new-comer from New Jersey and his parents in the lobby of Cumberland Dorm.

Reverend Carrie Parrish assures parents "Everything will be just fine," during the arrival of students at Weaver Dorm.

Even non-Methodist College students can get into the act. Chip Hart helps Kelly Riggan's dad "lift that bail" to move Kelly into Weaver.

MC Students Are MOVIN' IN

Students returning to Garber Dorm found a whole new environment when they came back in August. Over the summer "the powers that be" had a wall built down the middle of Garber separating the halves into male and female dorms in order to alleviate the overcrowding of male dorm students. Some returners had to be moved to the other side of the "frosted glass curtain" to facilitate the dorm's transformation. Now, instead of men living on the ground floor and women on the top two, men live on the west side of the wall and women live on the east side. Though some students have been less than satisfied with the change, everyone seems to have settled in and gotten used to it.

Other changes in the dorms include new single doors to replace the double doors which used to be there (a change which occurred over the summer) and new carpeting installed in Garber and Weaver dorms in late March and early April.

What's next for the dorms? Rumor has it that the apartments will be reopened to students in the coming year and that there is to be a new dorm built (and we're gonna' rent out the Radisson and we'll start getting room service, and all the dorms will go co-ed . . . and monkeys might—well, you know). ☺

Ever-smiling senior Heather Tomerlin totes "stuff" into Weaver Dorm as she returns for year number three at Methodist.

Resident Assistants Stephanie Thompson, DeLana Epps, Medina Jones, and Colette Gilligan get newcomers Jenna Uppinghouse and Ana Rodriguez settled into Weaver Dorm.

Although education is the top priority, students at Methodist College often find time to hang out and relax with their friends. One can almost always find students loafing around in the student union (now known as the Berns Student Center) where they can play pool, ping-pong, and arcade games. However, with the first days of spring, masses of students set up camp outside. On a sunny day, the ground is covered with young bodies seeking a great tan and eager athletes throwing balls and frisbees through the air. There are also many students taking advantage of the outside volleyball and basketball courts. For those who like to stay where it's cool, the newly carpeted and furnished dorm lobbies are a great place to chill and to enjoy the large screen televisions. The nature trails at Methodist provide a scenic place for those who like to commune with nature as well as with their friends. When all is said and done, Methodist College offers many quality places and activities to help its students relax and make friends.

Bill Capobianco, Doug Simpson, Ed McEnroe, Joe Myrtle, and Micah Lovette check out the latest sports on the Cumberland lobby TV.

Jenifer Nee, Wendy Stone, and Paul Knight eat lunch and listen to the band playing by the fountain on Homecoming Day.

Ray Outlaw and Lisa Rogers hang out on the new walkway around the student union—the walkway was built last year to make the college more "Handicapped-Accessible."

Lady Monarch Anne Uleman helps a youth in Special Olympics to achieve a goal.

MC Shows MONARCH PRIDE

Methodist College students haven't always shown exemplary support for their teams. However, in recent years the amount of school spirit has risen to higher levels, because of (in spite of?) team performances. The type of spirit shown now is different from that of earlier days when soap suds were thrown into the fountain and nude males went streaking across campus with bags on their heads. Students show up at games with colorful signs supporting our teams and scream chants to encourage the players. "What happened to the days of old?" some might ask. We'll make legends of our own.

Monarch Pride is also shown when students give of themselves to the community. Some participated in Share the Warmth, while others participated in the Special Olympics held here and helped give developmentally disabled kids not only the memory of a fun-filled day, but also a sense of accomplishment that can never be taken away from them.

Angie Garner helps to lift this Special Olympics child to the goal, and succeeds in lifting her spirits as well.

HIP-HOP HOORAY! HO! MC Let's Go!
Enthusiastic Methodist College students invade Greensboro College to cheer on the soccer team.

"Gimme Five!" Monarch basketball players Shawn Cucciardi and Andy Smith teach a Special Olympics contestant the secrets of the basketball slaps. Better watch out behind.

How much wood would a woodchuck chuck . . . ? Just ask this grimacing student who chopped wood for the Share the Warmth project.

Does the MC Campus have a life?

Sure it does. Whether basking in the sun, out on the golf course, kicking around a soccer ball, or "making a joyful noise," Methodist College students are out there making their collective presence known. While some students concentrate their efforts on athletics, on theatre, and even on (gasp) academics, others look to the community whether in the form of internships (such as golfers at King's Grant or communications students at Channel 40) or volunteer work (like being a big sister at E.E. Smith).

Still other students get involved in controversial events. Several students (and even an instructor or two) went to the Cumberland County Public Library to voice their opinions about the possible banning of two books about children with gay parents. A bunch of students gave helping hands to the presidential races in November as well.

Students show they care about the college as well when they participate in such events as Show You Care Day and perform such tasks as cleaning out the nature trails and laying bricks (no sick giggles, please) to make walkways in the dorm parking lots.

All work and no play makes Janie a dull co-ed. Somehow students always find time to watch a ball game or two, and still more time to cheer when their favorite team wins. To paraphrase an old adage: a campus that plays together, stays together.

Yes, eventually everyone has to go to class. Anyone for tennis physics?

Justin Carey presents an award to a less than excited youth during a summer soccer camp hosted by the Methodist College soccer teams.

Rev. Carrie Parrish, Sammy Hudson, and Kelly Cap sing "praises" during an FCA meeting while Susie Ryan prepares her critique of the performance.

Warm sunshine, dedicated fans, and Alan Coheley are always a welcome sight at the soccer field.

Ken Hoey (in the green jersey) shows the opposing team how real soccer players move down the field—i.e. How the game is played in Ireland.

Is this the goal of our PGM program? To have pretty golf carts and grounds and to be visited by loads and loads of people? It would be nice, but for now we only gaze longingly at King's Grant and dream.

The annual Methodist College celebration of the Moravian Love Feast was once again a spiritually enlightening success.

More see-ings and doings around Campus

Who were those masked men? They were the ones responsible for removing the asbestos from classroom and residential buildings on campus. For months we saw the lovely trucks all over campus, the plastic tubing straight out of E.T., and heard that incessant hum of machinery. What's a little noise compared to breathing room?

Garber Hall sunbathers also mourn the loss of "the stage," which has moved to behind the PAC. There is always good news in the land of Methodist, though. We have a new, comfy bus with which to transport our athletes, thespians, and other assorted students to places far and away. And there's always the transition from "the boiler plant" to each building heating and cooling itself.

In this time of transitions, we marvel at how much the college changes while still remaining the same ole' Methodist.

"C'mere, Baby!" Number 11 Jamelle Ushery tries to escape the clutches of a Davidson tackle.

"The sky is falling! The sky is falling!" No, it's just Garber Dorm's ceiling. Garber's roof was repaired in November and December of 1992, but not before scaring and annoying 3rd floor residents.

"I vant your blood!" Head Librarian Susan Pulsipher donates blood to the Blood Assurance Plan of Cumberland County. ♥ (And she's not clowning around?)

More Campus Lives

Think about all of the stories your parents have about when they went to school. Walking ten miles in the snow uphill both ways just to get to class—poor babies. Well, we got our snow this year!! But we don't need a little snow to give us juicy stories. We all have memories of a friend who had a really bad blind date, or know someone who sustained an injury not related to the sporting field, or held the hand of someone who just needed a friend there for support. The world changes around us every second. In our search for life on campus, we just might find the life that goes on around us, or more importantly, that life which springs from within us all.

Homecoming Day 1992 was a day filled with much laughter, joy, and disappointment. Although Methodist lost the Homecoming football game, we pulled out victories in other areas such as soccer. The October day was a little chilly, but not cold enough to keep away Methodist College students and alumni.

There were also a number of children present who along with their families enjoyed the kiddie carnival put on by the SCEC (Student Club for Exceptional Children) as a fundraiser. After the weather warmed up somewhat, the tables were spread and a picnic-style lunch was served. Then, to brighten things up just a little more, the Methodist College Chorus sang a selection of numbers followed by a performance by the Jazz Band. Royalty soon approached as Nanette Regan and LeRoy McCullough (Homecoming Queen and King) mingled with the crowd. The whole day sparked memories for the many alumni who came to Methodist College to socialize, remember, and dance the night away at the Homecoming Dance.

FINE ARTS

Cool, man, cool! The Methodist College Stage Band plays some jazz for the crowd at the Kiddie Carnival.

Dr. Mary Frances Boyce and Lynda Beard break in the harpsichord which they built this year.

Who says harpsichords are old? This one was just built by Dr. Boyce and Lynda Beard.

Music! Music! Music!

The Methodist College Music Department has done some exciting things this year. The MC Chorus has been busy doing things ranging from fundraisers (washing cars and selling doughnuts) to vacationing in the Bahamas over Winter Break, as well as singing at many school events. The Stage Band has made appearances at several events, and even had its own concert during the Dogwood Festival. Rainbow's End tours their talents to schools, churches, and community functions. They even had the opportunity in February to sing with the Chapel Choir from Paichai University in South Korea when that group came to Methodist.

Perhaps one of the most exciting events in the Music Department was the dedication of the harpsichord built by Lynda Beard and Dr. Boyce. The dedication took place on April 17 in the Alumni Dining Room and included a recital with Lynda Beard playing the new harpsichord and Dr. Boyce playing the violin. The new harpsichord was also featured during the chorus's spring concert on April 25, when Jane Weeks Gardiner accompanied the chorus in a performance of a Bach cantata. In the future, the harpsichord will be used as a solo instrument by the piano faculty and as a chamber music instrument by the Methodist College Chamber Music Ensemble.

Theatre brings art to life.

This year has possibly been the busiest in Theatre Department history. Counting the Circuit Players, there have been eleven productions this school year: Lion in Winter, The Mouse that Roared, Two by Tennessee, Pinocchio, Year of the Woman, Carnival, The Will of R.D., Hail, Dionysus! '93, Out of Gas, and THE 467 Stage Direction's final projects ("Pvt. Wars" and "The Dumb Waiter").

Two by Tennessee, Out of Gas, and Circuit Players were Senior Projects of three seniors minoring in Theatre. Amy Currie (Biology major) acted in Two by, which was directed by LT Glenn Herrin, a friend of the MC theatre family, so to speak. Out of Gas, staged at the old tennis courts, was written and directed by Caroline Kearns (Communications and English majors). Chris Laning (Communications and Computer Science majors) directed the Circuit Players, the travelling improv group, for his Senior Project.

This was also a big year for non-traditional staging. One was held in the Alumni Dining Room: Year of the Woman, a collection of scenes from plays featuring strong women, directed by Caroline Kearns. One was held outside: Out of Gas. Four were held ONstage-BACKstage: Two by, R.D., Hail, Dionysus! '93 and the Direction Class plays. A couple of shows also used non-traditional casting: Year of the Woman and "The Trial of Thomas Morton" used color- and/or gender-blind casting.

Original works were also a large part of this year's theatre experience. Hail, Dionysus! '93 featured plays by three students: "Look Who's Talking" by Christopher Laning, "Ever A Trooper: A Story of Harriet Tubman" by jeannie denman, and the winner of the 1993 Outstanding Playwrighting Award, "The Trial of Thomas Morton" by Caroline Kearns, who also wrote Out of Gas. Last but not least among the original plays done this year was The Will of R.D., written by Theatre and Speech Department Head Dr. Jack Peyrouse about Rezin Davis Shepherd III, better known as American Shakespearean actor R.D. McLean. Directed by Methodist graduate Mary K. Rowland, R.D. featured faculty, day and evening students, alumni, community people, and old friends of the Theatre Department.

Sometimes Art Is Purely Visual

And sometimes it touches you.

The Art Department has also been busy this year. There have been many exhibits of student artwork at the Mallett-Rogers House. One of the most recent was the work of senior Jay Pope, whose work is featured here (right).

Another busy artist is Rodney Harris, whose sculpture "Keeping An Open Mind" is embossed on the cover of the yearbook and was the inspiration for the change of the yearbook theme from "Voices" to "Keeping An Open Mind." Rodney's work can be seen other places as well. Anyone who's entered Reeves Auditorium via the loading dock has probably seen him sanding away at his latest piece, or at least tracked plaster all over the building.

Some of Mrs. Hinson's artwork is displayed in the Alumni Dining Room, and has made that room much grander for being there. In addition to sharing the building, the theatre and art departments also share talents. Often, campus artists paint imaginative scenery for theatre productions.

The work of the art department is always innovative and exciting. If you haven't stopped by at an exhibit yet, it is a must-do for the future.

SHOWING YOU CARE

Some Methodist College students do more than just study or play ball--they make a contribution to the community. These students are more than academics, more than athletes, more than just "college kids"--they are a part of a larger community, sharing their hands, hearts, and talents with those around them. These individuals have discovered that not only is it more blessed to give than to receive, but that no one in this world will ultimately survive unless we all pull together and give each other helping hands and hearts when needed. Like Robert Fulghum said in All I Really Need to Know I Learned in Kindergarten, "Live a balanced life--learn some and think some and draw and paint and sing and dance and play and work every day some. Take a nap every afternoon. When you go out into the world, watch for traffic, hold hands, and stick together."

A few warm hearted students show they care by helping cut wood for the needy.

MC STUDENTS TAKE A SYC DAY

Show You Care Day 1993 at the Dorms

Not everyone wants to get up bright and early on a Saturday morning to do the dorm equivalent of yard work, but these fine young people did just that for the 1993 Methodist College Show You Care Day. This year there was a contest among the dorms to see who could get the most residents out there laying bricks for brick sidewalks in the parking lots. Weaver Hall's women came through and won the prize. The longest of these brick sidewalks is in front of Sanford Hall. The dorm parking lots were not the only places that got attention on the SYC Day. Students worked in the nature trails clearing out garbage and building bridges. Participating students received Calvin & Hobbes SYC t-shirts.

Obstacle Course Challenges Brave Few.

As part of Spring Fling 1993, several students braved an obstacle course only the truly deranged could have imagined (wasn't it Brad Maloney?). It consisted of a water slide, jump rope, soccer obstacles, tire run, running in circles with forehead planted on a baseball bat, and those old stand-bys, finding bubble gum in a bowl of flour with your mouth and having to blow a bubble, and having to whistle after chewing 5 crackers. Only the truly brave or stupid tried it—actually a lot of people participated and had a great time making fools of themselves and laughing at themselves. The Obstacle Course, however, was only the beginning of the Spring Fling Festivities for 1993.

Throughout the year, many comedians and other entertainers come to Methodist via the Student Activities Council. Romeo performed here with his comedian Taylor Mason (right). A hypnotist had several students under his spell, and even had one guy thinking that his shoes were evil (below). The Lion's Den is usually packed for such events, which are fun for all involved.

GRADUATION

August Graduation

Speaking at Methodist College's final summer commencement on August 30, senior faculty member R. Parker Wilson challenged 34 graduates to build upon the liberal arts foundation and to live positive lives. He told the graduates that their diplomas represent the faculty's best efforts to give them a liberal arts foundation for a lifetime of learning. The history professor described several former faculty members he had known during his 30 years at Methodist. The speaker concluded his address by quoting from a popular song recorded by the late Bing Crosby: "Accentuate the positive. Eliminate the negative. Latch on to the affirmative. Don't mess with Mr. In-Between." Along with the quote, Mr. Wilson brought the house down with a quip he often tosses to new graduates as they walk through a cordon of faculty and staff following commencement. "Go forth and multiply," he said. "Send your children (money) and maybe I'll still be here."

History professor R. Parker Wilson addresses the graduating class of August 1992.

December Graduation 1992

Winter graduates of Methodist College were advised to "always be honorable, even though you may never be recognized or honored for it." Dr. Ladell Payne, president of Randolph-Macon college in Ashland, Virginia, told 85 graduating seniors that everyone can't be a winner, but that "unsung heroes, the unrecognized, and also-rans" can be worthy of honor if they exemplify passion, sacrifice, and endurance. Dr. Payne said he agreed with the late William Faulkner, who said, "I believe that man will not merely endure: he will prevail. He is immortal because he has a soul, capable of passion, sacrifice, and endurance." Twenty-one members of the winter graduating class graduated with honors - 12 "cum laude", seven "magna cum laude," and two "summa cum laude." In other commencement activities, Mrs. Judith W. Blake of Hope Mills was awarded the third annual Sam Edwards Award and Fernando Martinez, a history major from El Salvador, presented his country's flag to the college.

Graduating students and their parents are quietly led into Reeves Auditorium for the beginning of the commencement ceremony.

May 1993 Graduation

Rev. Rufus Stark urged Methodist students to "Help build a family-friendly world," on Sunday, May 16. Rev. Stark II, president of the Methodist home for children, decried the "cult of individualism and self-centeredness" of the last three decades. "This is a critical time for the health of the family in America," he said. Rev. Stark urged members of the Class of '93 to accept the Christian view that every human being is important and the new "systems theory" that dysfunctional families can be healed. Rev. Glen Holt, pastor of First Baptist Church in Fayetteville, spoke at the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning. He urged student to remember five crucial points that he had learned along the way. They are as follows: 1) To be successful in life, you need a goal or vision, 2) People are more important than things, 3) Dare to dream, 4) Staying power goes further than starting power, and 5) Faith and learning go hand in hand. During the commencement ceremony, Dr. Henderick awarded both speakers with honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees. Mr. Harlan F. Duenow, retiring conductor of the Fayetteville Symphony Orchestra, was presented with a Methodist College Medallion in recognition of his musical leadership.

The 1992 Monarch football team finished 0-10 under the direction of first year coach, Jim Sypult. Despite the losses, the Monarchs displayed outstanding improvment in every category. The highlight of the season was Rich Jinnette, who was selected as Methodist's first football All-American. Rich finished second in the country in both kick-off and punt returns.

At a timeout the cheerleaders perform one of their best stunts, during a men's basketball game.

The team spent a great deal of time practicing and preparing for the season during the summer and at camp, where they were awarded first place in fight song and sideline, third in cheer, and recieved the Leadership Award.

The team worked hard to build spirit by expanding the program and having cheerleaders at more athletic events.

The year was capped off by regaining the Dixie Conference Title in February. The momentum of that victory carried the Monarchs right into the National championships in San Diego, California where they had their best finish ever in their division. They were ranked as the fourth best team in the nation. This experiance and exposure has given the Methodist College Cheerleading Program a boost and the Monarchs are looking forward to a repeat trip to the championships next season.

The Women's Soccer team completed the 1992 season with a 9-8-3 record. With an overtime tie against N.C. Wesleyan, they shared the title of conference champions. Playing in three tournaments during the season the Monarchs walked away with the title of Emory University Invitational. The team had two All-South players, Colette Gilligan and Becky Morton; and one All-American, Colette Gilligan. With a very productive spring season and no graduating seniors the team is very optimistic for the fall campaign.

Ranked No. 1 in the South Region, No. 2 in the Nation, the Methodist Monarchs Men's Soccer Team advanced to the "Final 8" in NCAA Division III. Marking the first time in Monarch soccer tradition that a Monarch team has advanced that far. Hosting the NCAA Division III South Region Playoffs November 7-8, the Monarchs dominated play recording a 3-0 victory over conference foe, Greensboro College and a 2-0 win over Bethany College. The Monarchs advanced to the Quarterfinal competition against Ohio Wesleyan with the winner advancing to the Final Four. The contest proved to be a battle with the bounce of the ball falling in Ohio Wesleyan's favor, 2-1 in double overtime. The two NCAA playoff wins improved the 1992 Monarchs to an unbeaten record of 16-0-2. During the regular season the team recorded impressive victories over Division I teams such as East Carolina University, Campbell University, and the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. The Monarchs captured a fourth consecutive Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic conference title with an impressive 3-1 road win against Greensboro College.

The volleyball squad posted their first twenty-win season in five years. They entered the season with four returners and an exciting crew of first year players. Their accomplishments include a second place finish in the Methodist College Invitational, a fourth place finish at the Gallaudet University Invitational and a second place DIAC regular season finish. Junior middle hitter Jill Sturenfeldt and sophomore outside hitter Michele Brown received second team All-Conference honors. Sophomore setter Kim Miller was honored with first team All-Conference and All-Tournament team membership. Junior Angie Garner received the Most Valuable Player honors as awarded by her teammates.

The decade of the 90's continued to spur "firsts" for the Lady Monarchs basketball program. The 1992-1993 team claimed the program's first DIAC Regular Season Championship. A two-point loss in the tournament championship game prevented a trip to the NCAA Tournament. Senior Daphne Akridge was named to the DIAC All-Conference first team and sophomore Novella McMillian joined on the second team. Novella and Angie Garner were selected to the All-Tournament team. The final record was 15-11.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Monarch Basketball began a new era in 1992-1993 under first year coach Bob McEvoy. Led by senior co-captains Marc Malone and Scott Stoker the team finished strong, winning six of its last twelve games and capturing a tie for fourth place in the Dixie Conference. Malone led the team in scoring and rebounding and also earned All-Tournament honors at the Penn-State/ Behrend Holiday Tournament. Freshman Eric Rhew and Bill Nebrich earned DIAC Rookie of the Week honors for strong conference performances. With ten first year players on the roster this season, the future Monarch Basketball looks bright in the years ahead.

The women's tennis team faced tough competition this year. Their opponents included teams such as Washington & Lee, Guilford, and Christopher Newport. The Lady Monarchs finished the season with a 6-13 record and earned second place in the DIAC Conference Tournament (just two points behind the champions). Under the guidance of Coach Warrell, our team has set their sights on recapturing the DIAC title next year. Tracy Maness, Janna Bias, and Heather Hyslop were named All-Conference in singles competition. The doubles teams of Maness/Bias and Hyslop/LaVoe were named All-conference in doubles competition.

The men's tennis team was the Dixie Conference Champions for the third consecutive year. Facing several nationally ranked teams, the Monarchs finished with a record of 5-6. The experience brought about tremendous growth and improvement which they will capitalize on in future years. Mark Faber earned the prestigious MVP award. Wade Liles, Foo Hwa Kong, Marc Tyndale and the doubles teams of Mark Faber and Scott Pickrel were named All-Conference. In addition, Mark Faber and Scott Pickrel finished the season ranked in the top ten of the South Region.

TRACK & FIELD

The 1993 season saw the resurgence of the Methodist College track and field program. After a successful indoor season the Monarchs took aim at the outdoor Mason-Dixon Conference Championships. The Monarchs ended up with 95 points, which placed them in fourth place and only six points out of second.

Those taking individual championships were Jamelle Ushery (So. Albany NY) in the 110 meter high hurdles and 400 meter intermediate hurdles, Brett Dietrich (Jr. Fayetteville NC) in the 300 meter steeplechase; Jamal Taylor (Fr. Richmond VA) in the long jump, and Travis Armstrong (Fr. Gastonia NC) in the highjump. Coach Cole was selected "Mason-Dixon Indoor Coach of the Year."

Methodist returned to the NCAA Div. III Nationals this spring for the first time in four years. Jamelle Ushery represented Methodist at the National Meet which was held at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea OH.

Ushery, who was seeded 15th going into the meet, ran an exceptional race in the qualifying heats, running a personal best of 14.69 seconds. In the finals, Jamelle ran 14.7 seconds to place 8th, which also earned him the status of All-American.

The Monarchs lose only one athlete to graduation. "This has been one of the most successful years the program has ever seen," said Coach Brian Cole. "Between indoor and outdoor we had seven individual champions in the conference, 37 All-Conference selections, and an All-American, not to mention the second highest finish in the conference to date.

Abigail Findlay practices her long-distance running for an upcoming competition in hopes of coming in first.

Brett Ciancanelli sees just how high he can jump at one of the teams outdoor competitions.

Jamelle Ushery leads the pack in the hurdles, with a fierce look of determination on his face.

With only four returners from last year, the softball team entered the season with a few questions and some cautious expectations. The freshman class, along with the veterans, accepted the challenge of inexperience and continually improved throughout the season.

The team took fourth place at the Virginia Wesleyan Invitational Tournament with scrappy heads-up play and finished fourth in the conference with an exciting final regular season double-header. They fell short at the conference tournament, though it was one of their best hitting games of the season.

Junior second baseman Anne Uleman and sophomore center-fielder, Kerry Oliastro received second team honors while sophomore catcher Kim Miller was named to the first team All-Conference. Oliastro received the Most Valuable Player honors as awarded by her teammates.

Freshman, Monica Dunn winds up for the pitch.

Catcher Kim Miller takes the out but also takes the hit from her opponent.

Shortstop Sandra Tripp makes the out at second and makes the throw to first for the double play.

Coach Karen Smith advises Kerry Oliastro before Kerry goes to bat.

The Monarch baseball team began the 1993 season by bolting to an 8-0 record and followed with a 9-game win streak in mid-season. It finished the regular season with victories against highly regarded Division III Mary Washington (16-6), No. 5 ranked Division II Armstrong State (6-5), and Division II Norfolk State (7-6).

Unfortunately for the Monarchs, the streak ended with their two losses in the NCAA South Regional Tournament. It was the Monarchs' 12th consecutive tournament bid, but the exit was a quick one with a 0-3 loss to NC Wesleyan, followed by a 0-2 defeat to Ferrum. The pitching was there but the bats weren't.

Junior Brandon Bridgers was chosen second team All-American. Bridgers and Matt Berry were named to the All-South Team, with Joe Myrtle, Bryan Steinhagen, Matt Boucher, and Brian Ford earning second team honors. Myrtle and Bridgers were first team All-Conference; second teamers were Ford, Mark Roncace and Andy Nelson.

A highlight of the season was Brian Ford's perfect game against St. John Fisher on March 15, 1993. Berry led the team with a .362 batting average, while Bridgers stole 54 bases.

WOMEN'S GOLF

The Lady Monarchs have had a very successful year and are ranked #1 in the Nation going into the Small College Nationals. The Methodist women have won three tournaments (all Division I). After winning the JMU Invitational in the Fall and finishing 3rd at the College of Charleston tournament, the Lady Monarchs were invited to the prestigious Golf World Collegiate at Palmetto Dunes. The Spring season brought strong finishes at the Northern Illinois Snowbird Classic and a third at UNC-W. With victories at both William and Mary and Penn State, this capped off one of our best overall seasons. Kelly Cap, Elizabeth Horton and Allyson Greer are ranked 1, 3 and 4 in the Nation, and all are All-Americans. Methodist is seeking its 7th Natinal Title at the NGCA Championships to be held at South Hadley, Mass. Last year, Methodist won the Division III National Title, while beating all of Division II as well, at the combined tournament. Greer was the Individual National Champion.

Men's Golf

The 1992-93 Men's Golf team regained the Dixie Conference Championship, but fell short of winning its fourth consecutive NCAA Division III title. The Monarchs finished a respectable third at the National tournament held at Torrey Pines South Course in La Jolla, California. The highlight of the tournament was Ryan Jenkins becoming Methodist College's third individual National Champion. Four players earned All-American honors; Ryan Jenkins — first team, Eric Haile — second team, Dave Jukes and Bill Anderson (captain, M.V.P.) Honorable Mention respectively. Sammy Hudson joined Jenkins, Jukes, and Anderson on the All-District III and the All-Dixie Conference teams. Next year's team was the NCAA champion (Jenkins) and Conference champion (Hudson) returning to lead the team back to the top. Methodist College will be nothing the NCAA tournament at King's Grant C.C. in Fayetteville.

Athletic Awards

Bill Anderson receives MVP Award for men's golf.

There are a number of distinguished athletes who achieved a GPA of 3.5 or above this year. Not only do these students have to be completely dedicated to their sport, but to their studies as well. They are as follows:

Stephanie Alvarez	Women's Basketball
Bill Capobianco.....	Men's Soccer
Chad Drake.....	Football
Darlene Dykas.....	Women's Soccer
Foo Hwa Kong	Men's Tennis
George Lewis	Men's Soccer
Tracy Maness.....	Women's Tennis
Tammy Murphy.....	Women's Soccer
Joe Myrtle	Baseball
Jim Bob Randolph.....	Football
Mark Roncace.....	Baseball
Chris Shaw	Men's Soccer
Andy Smith.....	Men's Basketball

The 1992-93 school year produced a great number of great athletes and students. Although all names are not available, the list of other athletes receiving awards is as follows: Angie Garner, Marc Malone, Jamelle Ushery, Brett Ciacanelli, Katherine Howard, Becky Morton, Chris Shaw, Stefan Stefansson, Kelly Cap, Bill Anderson, Kerry Oliastro, Mark Faber, Janna Bias, Stacey Harper, A.J. Jones, Rich Jinnette, Abigail Findlay, Allyson Greer, and Joe Myrtle. Congratulations to all of the athletic awards winners.

Angie Garner receives MVP Award for women's basketball.

Rich Jinnette receives MVP Award for football.

The number of athletes with a 3.0 GPA for the 1992-93 academic year is very commendable. They are as follows:

Mike Adamson	Britt Morton
Daniel Barros	Chris Jo Pepper
Todd Boyette	Rich Pope
Mark Faber.....	Genee Sanders
Abigail Findlay	Kim Smith
Colette Gilligan.....	Kristy Smith
Mark Gleason	Stefan Stefansson
Renna Hooper	Jill Sturenfeldt
Kate Howard	Darren Thompson
Heather Hyslop.....	Cara Vandenberghe
Jeffifer Kimball.....	Leigh Watkins
Paul Knight.....	Henry Watson
Allen Lasater	Amy Wehner
John McKinney.....	Telly Whitfield
Dirk Morris.....	Todd Rubin
Becky Morton

Allyson Greer receives Outstanding Female Senior Athlete Award.

Marc Malone receives MVP Award for men's basketball.

Cheerleader A.J. Jones receives the Sherry Sellers Award.

“People don’t understand what’s different to them. It’s our duty as citizens to change the hatred and prejudices and racism into kindness, love, and acceptance.”

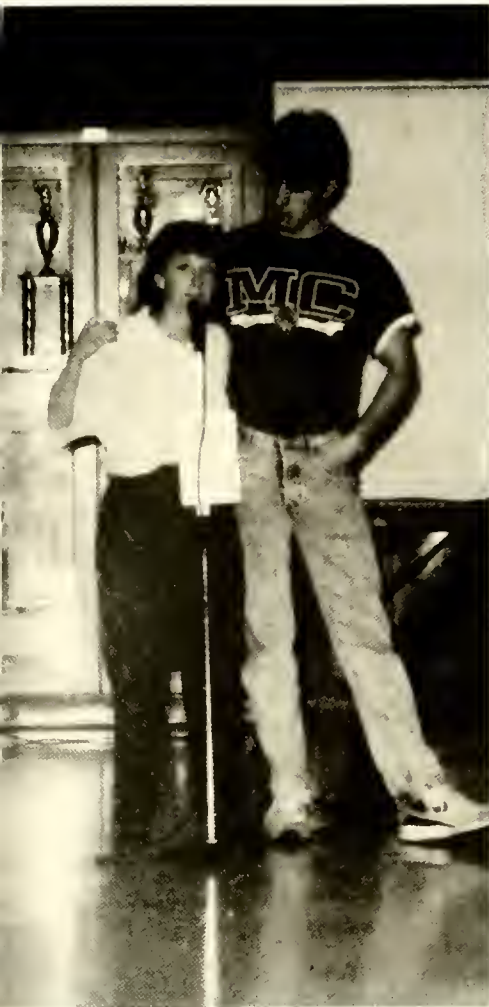

“My name is Sam and I’m gay. I didn’t choose to be gay, but I’ll probably be that way until I die.”

Students of all backgrounds mingle after the forum held on April 21 in response to Chris Laning’s column: Conservative’s Corner.

Opening minds and hearts on campus

There's so much I could say about prejudice, racism, gay-bashing, chauvinism, religious persecution and all of the other forms of hate and misunderstanding out there. Sometimes the only reason for it is the same as the storming of the castle in Beauty and the Beast: "We don't like what we don't understand, in fact it scares us." Other times the hatred felt by those who are other than the "norm" is actually backed up by "facts" and reasonings. Still, one fact never changes—hate hurts. It hurts the one hated and the one who hates. Perhaps by "keeping an open mind" we can see who or what it is that each of us hates (and why) and find some way to dissolve the hate, or at least to resolve the tension. There are other people who don't hate those who are different; they just find some of the differences hard to deal with.

Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, Native Americans, gays, and women are still held back from many endeavors by a "glass ceiling" simply because they are not in the majority. The numbers don't support this, but the typically European based society deems it acceptable.

So what's my point? How about that the Golden Rule isn't just something silly you had to learn in Sunday School. Or that Robert Fulghum's idea of the need for all of us to "hold hands and stick together" isn't so far-fetched. Or maybe that the idea of love needs to move beyond sex or some obscure emotion and actually become a matter of practice? At any rate, if we don't do something to learn to live together we're going to end up destroying each other.

Travis Jordan and Derek Tang talk together after the forum.

David Teague takes a stand and gives friend Sam Tutt a hug of support.

Rev. Parrish encourages eliminating all labels that hurt, including ones like Arab, jock, slut, and faggot.

Three of the students involved with putting together the forum see the college community comes together.

Columbus Discovered America. . .

. . . Or was he just a lucky gambler?

Five hundred years ago an Italian sailor landed upon some of the islands of the Americas, and was given credit for discovering "A Whole New World," so to speak. Once we were all taught that Columbus discovered America and brought civilization, religion, and progress to those poor ignorant and barbaric souls who lived there. Now children are taught about many other non-European cultures that existed around 1492—not just "Injuns."

This change is due in part to the greater presence and voice of the non-European-based section of our society. Director of Boston's National Center for Afro-American Artists Barry Gaither said in ARTnews (Oct 91), "Not everybody here wants to be a descendant of the Pilgrims. Those of us who come from rich cultural traditions—African-Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans—do not wish to abandon our specific cultural heritage in order to take part in what is our common, our shared cultural heritage." (105).

The Santa Maria sails through New York harbor. The replicas of Columbus' ships arrived in the US on Feb. 15, 1992, as part of the 500th anniversary celebration of his voyage.

The ships, made the same way as the originals were, are touring 20 American cities, starting in Florida and ending up in California. Shown here is the Nina.

This is the pomp and circumstance that surrounds elections. But look beyond the balloons and cheers—what's really there?

One thing that you can do to find out what's going on is to work on a campaign. Rules #1 & #2 in a democracy: get educated and get involved.

Work Hard for What You Believe

In the next millenium we'll be telling our grandchildren all about the things that at the present time we have yet to find out ourselves. Does that scare you? If you feel that badly about it, do something to change the future. This year we were given the opportunity to exercise one of our most influential rights as citizens of the United States of America—we voted. In the presidential election of 1992, Bill Clinton was the one chosen to lead our country.

But isn't there more to being a responsible citizen than just voting for elected officials? What about attending rallies to express your opinion about a book-banning at the local library or about a landfill to be built in your community? Or going to Sunday School and helping out? Or volunteering to coach Little League or to lead Scouts? Or giving a little of your time, patience, and concern to shut-ins, the hospitalized, or the disabled?

Working hard for what you believe doesn't have to take up a tremendous amount of time or energy. It can be as simple as speaking up when you believe that someone has been wronged or in keeping your mouth shut while others are gossiping. You don't necessarily have to make your presence known. Some of the strongest people in the world are those who, instead of rocking the boat, quietly sit in the back with their oar deep in the water and steer.

Farewell to the man who spent 12 years (3/4 of the life of the average freshman) in Washington.

Here's where true citizenship starts: read, listen, learn, then make your opinion known—VOTE.

And while I'm on my soap box . . .

As you look back on your college years, take a moment to "keep an open mind" and remember both sides of the issues: Rodney King, victim or criminal; the LA Police, standard bust or racist action; gays in the military, patriotism or civil war; Miss Black America, opportunity or separatism; US troops in the Persian Gulf, Somalia, or Bosnia, neighborly or nosy. Whatever your opinion now, it may change significantly 20 or 30 years from now, or even before you graduate.

To keep an open mind, sometimes we have to let go of the familiar, if only for a second, in order to give new ideas a chance. In May 1993, Charles Vere, Earl of Burford, came to the MC Campus to share a theory about the authorship of the plays and sonnets attributed to William Shakespeare. He said that the actor William Shakspere of Stratford on Avon could not possibly have written them, but that the 17th Earl of Oxford, Edward Vere, was the only logical choice to have written them due to his education, previously exhibited interest and talent, and presence in the court. Imagine the effect on the study of the Shakespearean plays and sonnets if Vere is correct!

CURRENT EVENTS

Although servicemen chalked “to Saddam with love” and other pleasantries on missiles and a warplane aboard USS Kitty Hawk before the air strike on Iraq in January '93 (see photo, right), warm fuzzies were the last things on their minds. The attack was meant to make an impression on Saddam Hussein, in addition to taking out the radar and missile sites in southern Iraq that have threatened the planes patrolling the area.

Another grim aspect of the times is AIDS, the number nine cause of death in America (cardiovascular diseases are number one). A new vision of the world AIDS epidemic predicts that more than 25 million people will have the disease by the end of the decade, and up to 120 million will be infected. This study, released by Harvard University researchers, envisions an explosive, disastrous spread of the disease, particularly in Asia.

To show their love and to mark the loss of loved ones to AIDS, people signed panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt in New York (see photo, above).

The ninth annual MTV Video Music Awards showcased talents such as Van Halen, Red Hot Chili Peppers (breakthrough video, viewer's choice, and art direction), and the boys of Guns N' Roses. Others who were recognized included Annie Lennox for "Why" off her double album Diva and Metallica for "Enter Sandman." Let's not forget vee-jay Cindy Crawford who stopped outside the pavilion to greet her fans and be photographed.

Others who shone in the spotlight included 21-year-old Jacksonville, FL native Leanza Cornett who was chosen as the 66th Miss America. Now-president Bill Clinton wailed an impressive version of "Heartbreak Hotel" on the Arsenio Hall show in June.

Who Is Our President?

The two major contenders in the 1992 presidential race were President George Bush (Republican) and Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton (Democrat). The nomination for Bush and his running mate, Vice-President Dan Quayle, was announced on August 20, 1992 at the Republican National Convention, which was held at the Houston Astrodome. At the Democratic National Convention, Clinton and his running mate, Senator Al Gore, accepted the Democratic nomination on July 17, 1992 at New York's Madison Square Garden. A persistent also-ran in the election was Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot who, though he had much public support, did not have the support of the electoral college.

At the end of the race, William Jefferson Clinton emerged as the 42nd President of the United States of America. At the inauguration ceremony on January 20, 1993, Clinton took the presidential oath on a King James Bible given to him by his grandmother. The Bible was opened to the scripture Galatians 6:8—"For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

Some famous persons who were present at the ceremony included Michael Bolton and Kenny G, two of Clinton's favorite performers, and Maya Angelou, who read some of her work at the ceremony and gave an inspirational message.

American Happenings

"Potato Kid" William Figueroa, spelled potato correctly; Dan Quayle "corrected" it to potatoe.

H. Ross Perot makes one of his many speeches in 1992 during his independent bid for the Presidency.

One event that had a great impact on the United States was the signing of the North American Free Trade Agreement, designed to create the world's largest and richest free trade zone, in October 1992. The NAFTA would remove all trade barriers among the U.S., Canada, and Mexico for the next 15 years. For the agreement to go into effect, it must be approved by the legislatures of all three countries.

Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot took America by storm when he entered the presidential race as an independent candidate. When Perot dropped out of the race and then re-entered 11 weeks later, he lost much of his potency, but he still had the potential to affect who would become our next president.

The signing of the 2,000 page North American Free Trade agreement brought smiles to those involved.

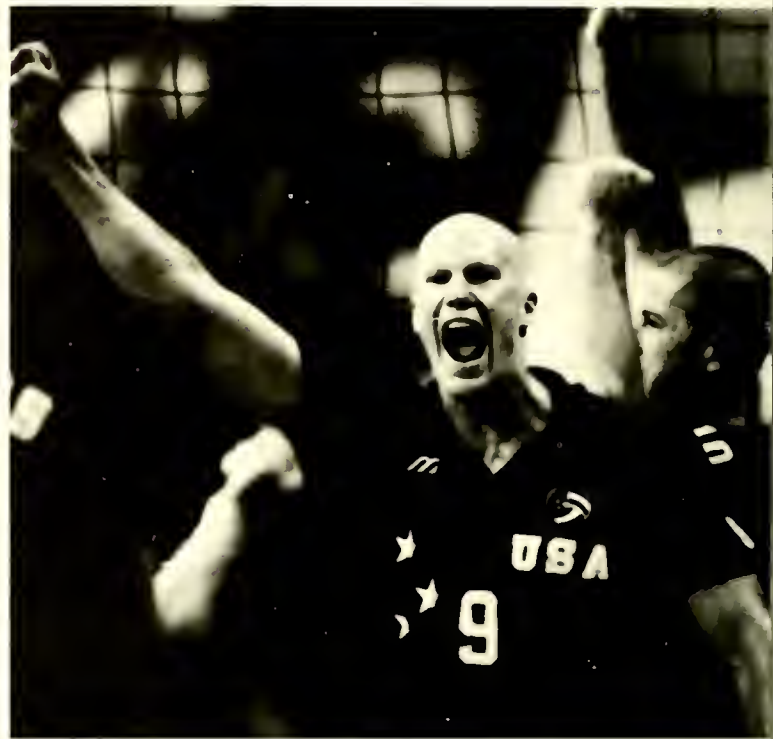

Olympics Winners '92 and other

The 1992 Summer Olympics, held in Barcelona, Spain, marked the end of one era and the beginning of another. It was the first Olympics in which professional athletes were allowed to compete. Countering the attacks of commercialism, coach Chuck Daly argued that the presence of pros could do nothing but enhance the event. "Somewhere out there now is a 13-year-old who wants to be a Michael or a Magic, a Larry or a Patrick. That's the role of these games. That's what happens in all of these sports. It gives people a dream."

Over 3 billion people in 183 countries watched this Olympics, during which the US team won 108 medals in all, which is nearly the best the team has ever done. The US will host the Olympics in 1996 in Atlanta and stands poised to rule the sports world at that time.

Champions

A cheering, chanting, delirious sea of humanity flooded Toronto's city center on October 25: "The chop stops here." The shouting Blue Jays fans were celebrating the 1992 World Series, when the Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings in Game 6. The Blue Jays became the first team to take baseball's ultimate prize outside the United States, making it truly a World Series. The Braves became the first team to lose consecutive World Series since the 1977-78 Los Angeles Dodgers.

The US Open gave us the same winners as last year in the men's and women's singles titles, Stefan Edberg and Monica Seles. Edberg kissed the net cord in his quarter-final match, kicked a ball, smacked the net, and threw a towel. Seles wasn't quite as colorful when she won this tournament, her third Grand Slam tournament crown of 1992.

Monica Seles (pre-backstabbing) playing hard at the US Open in September 1992, which she won for the second straight year.

Stefan Edberg walked away from the US Open with the world's No. 1 ranking, $500,000, and his second straight US Open title.

The Toronto Blue Jays celebrate their World Series victory. For the first time ever baseball's championship pennant waves over another country.

American Tragedies

An earthquake which rated 7.4 on the Richter scale hit Southern California on June 28, 1992. This was followed by a 6.5 point quake only three hours later. Over 300 people were injured and a child was killed. Water systems ruptured, fires erupted, highways were upturned, and it left approximately 500,000 without power.

Hurricane Andrew, which hit southern Florida on August 24, 1992, caused much of the same types of damage: 55 died and thousands were left homeless.

Winds gusted to 164 mph and a 12 foot tidal surge flattened homes, uprooted trees, flung boats into the streets, and wrecked an entire Air Force base (Mother Nature's way of helping the US military to downsize?)

The first terrorist act on American soil occurred on February 26, 1993 when an explosion rocked the World Trade Center in NYC. Islamic fundamentalist Mohammed A. Salameh was arrested for the bombing.

Foreign Tragedies

One of the worst famines in history is hitting Somalia. Estimates of the dead range from 100,000 to half a million, but no one knows just how many have died in the Horn of Africa nation. Part of the destitution was caused by the battling of clans fighting in the central Bay region for supremacy after the ousting of Siad Barre. Harvests were disrupted and people uprooted, displaced, and left in great jeopardy. Many have died in the factional fighting that has driven the nation since former leader Siad Barre's ouster. Casualty estimates range from conservative figures of 10,000 to the 60,000 estimated by the human rights group Africa Watch.

Food and military aid has been sent to hundreds of thousands of Somalis. The US Marines arrived there in December 1992 to assist in curtailing the widespread violence and to prevent looting of relief shipments, with the goal of providing safe passage for food delivery to starving Somalis. The troops are patrolling the meanest streets of Mogadishu with a soft touch. Children wave as they pass or run to shake hands with those who have come to help.

More than a million Somalis have fled their homeland for refugee camps in neighboring countries, with wealthier ones seeking safe haven in Europe, the United States, Canada, and elsewhere.

Because of political persecution, many Haitians have fled to the United States for asylum. 27,000 of the refugees who were accepted and given a chance to be heard at the US naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, were denied asylum and returned to Haiti. Bush decided on May 24, 1992 that the Coast Guard would return all of the refugees to their country and that the Haitians could apply for asylum only through the US Consulate at Port-au-Prince.

Taking out the Trash

In September 1992 a group of more than 20 companies launched a national campaign to encourage US businesses to buy recycled goods. There are vast supplies of paper, glass, and other reusable trash made available by recycling, but demand for these products is low. The effort to get businesses to use recycled products will include programs conducted around the country to show businesses how to buy recycled good and how to put them into practical everycay use, as well as a database that informs businesses where they can buy items such as memo pads made from recycled paper.

Workers at a privately owned recycling plant in NYC sort through cans (top) and other garbage (bottom).

Yugoslavia: A Country In Pain

The territory of Yugoslavia for centuries was a battleground between the Austro-Hungarian and Ottoman empires. In 1918, the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes was declared, and in 1929 it was renamed Yugoslavia. The new country was torn by demands for autonomy by Croats who opposed Serbian domination.

Of the 24 million people living there, Serbs account for about 36% and the Croats for about 20% of the population. Other Slav groups are the Slovenes (8%), the Montenegrins (3%), and the ethnic Albanians (9%).

This ethnic diversity has been a source of strife for centuries. President Tito, who ruled from 1945 until his death in 1980, kept a tight lid on these internal ethnic rivalries. Since his death, however, central power has been eaten away by the feuding republics.

Inhabitants of the territory are confronted daily by the shelling, sniper fire, and death of a war which has left thousands dead, and sent more than a million fleeing, and led to the creation of dreaded detention camps, likened to those of Nazi Germany.

Too young to understand why people hate each other, this toddler cries at his bullet-wounded glass door.

This woman is not alone mourning for the dead at a freshly dug and filled grave.

Pushing and shoving to try to buy bread and other staples is a way of life here.

This year, the students of Methodist College wish to extend a warm farewell to Kathy Woltz. Although Ms. Woltz has been with us for many years, she will not be returning after the summer sessions of '93. She has been a great influence on the lives of many students and has become a personal friend to all who have known her. Kathy Woltz's absence will surely have a great impact on the whole student body of Methodist College and though her position may be well-filled by another, she will never be replaced. We have been blessed to have her with us throughout the years and wish her happiness on the new roads she will travel. This message is for you Kathy — we want you to know that you are the best, we love you and will greatly miss you.

Farewell Kathy Woltz,
The Methodist College Student Body and Class of '93

Thank You, Methodist College Supporters

Editor's Note

There are no words to express how stressful the yearbook has been this year. How I made it through it is beyond me. We have had setbacks ranging from computer glitches to write-ups that were never submitted. In any event, you are looking at the final product. (Praise the Lord). Not only is the yearbook finally finished, but I am as well. After two years of co-editorship, I have decided to turn my golden cropper (for those of you that don't know, that's a yearbook utensil) over to the next willing person. My hair has already turned gray and I'm afraid that if I don't quit now my teeth will fall out. In any event, there are many thanks in order for the people who kept me in one piece this year. Jeannie Denman is at the top of the list for taking charge when I needed her to, teaching me how to use this blasted computer, sharing my moments of crisis with me, and being an overall best friend. Next, I must thank Bill Billings. Bill has been a great advisor and has always been there when we needed him. I can't tell you how many times he's had to get photos printed overnight or even the same day for us. He's caught all our typos (or most of them at least) and made it possible for Jeannie and I to work together while in separate states. Bill, you're great. I must now thank my willing and hard working staff. Though you're small in number, you were great in help. I also want to thank my roommate (Sam) for putting up with the mess in the room, my parent's for words of encouragement, Kim Honan and Joy helping me pull a 24 hr. deadline and most of all my God for getting me out of this alive.

your retiring co-editor,
Rachel Juren

Well, it's finally done. (Whew! Sigh! Aaah!) Gone are the nights of Yearbook Hell in the basement of Garber Dorm when I lived on cola and cigarettes. The job of yearbook editor was much harder than I thought it would be, but I think this book was worth all the stress. I really hope you (and your kids, and your grandkids, and ...) enjoy it. Before my academy award speech, I have to thank God first. I truly did this book on one set of footprints.

The next big thank you goes to shutterbug Keith Jacobs, whose photography internship brought him to Methodist College for the fall of 1993 (don't ask me what school he's from, I'm clueless on that one). He took most of the pictures that we have of activities from the fall semester, and was a God-send to me as a new editor. A yearbook is nothing without pictures to fill in those 1,000 words. Thank you to Chris Ryan, Mike Safely, Paul Wilson, Theresa Carlevaro, Michael Thrash, and everyone else who contributed pictures.

There are some people that helped me immensely once I got to New York and had to rely on the miracles of the Communications Age to correct and send back proofs. A very special thank you goes to my uncle, Richard Denman, and the rest of the folks at Pleasant Acres Campground who helped me with computer needs, FAX-ing, and let me correct yearbook problems over the phone on work time. Thank you to my family, who had to put up with computer mess, my complaining, and the incessant tapping of computer keys and the loud, high-pitched "NN-YANT" of the printer.

On the top of my list of people to thank is Mr. Bill Billings. We couldn't have done this book without all of his help—as an advisor he went above and beyond the call of duty and pulled his hair out with the rest of us. I also have to thank all of the publications staff down in the back of the Mallett-Rogers House, and especially Kim Honan and Joy Kirkpatrick who put in extra time to help Rachel stuff envelopes after I'd gone home to New York.

Thank you as well to my co-editor, Rachel Juren, who went through a bunch of late nights with me, and to the more dedicated of my staff: Leigh Watkins (Sports Editor), Tammy Wilson (Freshmen), Camisha Bell, Jay Ohlmacher (Seniors), Sarah Shew, and Michael Thrash. Todd Lyden, Alice Simmons, Crystal Grizzard also lent much-needed hands. Thanks also to the Student Affairs bunch who helped to ID people.

Our Herff-Jones representative was always there for us, and called in to check on us when he hadn't heard from us in a while. THANK YOU BRENT!!! His wife was there to relay messages for us, and knew as much about our book as he did. Thank you Mrs. DeWeese!!

We could not have created this yearbook without computers. Kudos go to Sam Clark and Elizabeth Bartlett of the computer center who were on hand for on-campus computer problems (and I still haven't gotten over there). On the Herff-Jones team is Ricky Martin, who was life-saver as I tried to get work done in New York with the instruction book in North Carolina. Thank you Ricky! My thanks also goes to my uncle Richard for fixing some problems with the yearbook computer once I got it to New York.

Thank you as well to those who just came down to "Hell" (the Student Publications Room in the basement of Garber) with me to alleviate my stress, to Q98 DJ Dave Stone for playing all of my requests at 0-dark-hundred in the morning, to Adriane Williams, and to Kathy Woltz for always having a listening ear and good advice. Kathy, you will be dearly missed. Finally, I must wrap up by thanking all of the residents of Garber Hall, the people in the Theatre Department, and all of my friends (especially my roommate and best friend Theresa Carlevaro) who were subjected to my moans of being in "Yearbook Hell" and loved me through all of it anyway.

THANK YOU!!!
